

Defense Solutions Signs Exclusive Teaming Agreement with DynCorp International, LLC, L-3 MPRI, and Omega Training Group, Inc.

Pennsylvania-based Defense Solutions to Support US Army Requirements for Integrated Logistics Support, Training, and Maintenance for Vehicles and Equipment in Iraq
Press release: October 01, 2007

(Exton, PA) October 1, 2007 -- Defense Solutions has reached an agreement with three major companies, DynCorp International, LLC, MPRI, an L-3 Communications Company, and Omega Training Group, Inc. to support the United States Army Multi-National Security Transition Command – Iraq (MNSTC-I) and the United States Army Security Assistance Command (USASAC), in response to requirements for support services, spare parts, repair, training, maintenance and other required services Fully Mission Capable and Safety Certified vehicles and equipment on behalf of the Iraqi Security Forces (ISF).

“The capabilities of the Defense Solutions Team are significantly expanded through an exclusive partnership with DynCorp International, MPRI, and Omega Training Group,” said Timothy D. Ringgold, Chief Executive Officer of Defense Solutions. “These three major organizations have recognized the value of the Defense Solutions team approach to satisfying existing requirements, and have joined and collaborated to provide critical support functions of vehicles and equipment in Iraq.”

Defense Solutions Chief Executive Officer, Colonel (Ret) Timothy D. Ringgold, Ph.D., DynCorp International Government Services President, Major General (Ret) Robert Rosenkranz, MPRI Senior Vice President, General (Ret) William Kernan, and Omega Training Group Chief Executive Officer, Ray Kaufmann, agreed to joint terms on October 10, 2007.

About Defense Solutions

Defense Solutions is an international project management, executive consulting, and business development firm headquartered in Exton, PA with branch offices in Washington, DC; and Budapest, Hungary, and satellite offices in Miami, Florida; Bogota, Colombia; and Dhaka, Bangladesh. The company offers project management, strategic studies and analyses, business development, and program advocacy for clients serving the worldwide Defense and Homeland Security markets.

Defense Solutions experts command first-hand knowledge of modern day operational and technical capabilities, knowledge that enables them to identify requirements, assess critical areas, produce strategies, implement policies, and plan execution. Defense Solutions apply the latest information management tools to design and implement programs that bridge the gap between concept and demonstrated performance.

CONTACT INFORMATION:

James Donahue
Defense Solutions
707 Eagleview Blvd, Suite 100
Exton, PA 19341
610.833.6000